

OTHERS VERIFY GORE'S CHARGES OF ATTEMPT TO BUY CONGRESSMEN

HAMON ACCUSED DENIES IT ALL

Alleged Briber, Vice President Sherman and Others Implicated in Graft Cases Cry "Lie"

"EXPECTED DENIALS"—GORE

Investigating Committee Is Exhuming Nasty Mess, and Hamon Admits Having Seen Senator

THE CHARGES

By Senator Gore: That former republican congressman, Jacob L. Hamon, of Oklahoma, offered him a bribe of $50,000 to withdraw his opposition to the McMurray Indian land contracts by which interested persons were to profit about $3,000,000 in fees. That Hamon told him Vice President Sherman, Senator Curtis and Representative McGuire were interested in the contracts.

THE ANSWERS

By Vice-president Sherman: "The story is absolutely without the slightest shadow of foundation."
By Senator Curtis: "I am not and have not been interested in the Indian contracts directly or indirectly."
By Representative McGuire: "No man who is honest will say I now have or ever had any interest in any Indian contracts with McMurray or anybody else."
By J. F. McMurray: "Bribe never entered my mind. No one has ever spoke to me about it. I never approached anyone dishonestly."
By Jacob L. Hamon: "I did not offer a bribe to Senator Gore or to Representative O'Granger. I never mentioned to anyone that Vice-president Sherman was interested in the McMurray contracts or that Senator Curtis was interested in them."

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 5.—"When Senator Gore said that I suggested to him that he might secure $25,000 if he would stop his fight on the proposed McMurray contracts, Senator Gore lied."

In these words Jacob L. Hamon, of Lawton, testifying before the congressional committee which is probing the Gore charges, replied to the accusation made by the senator before the committee yesterday that on May 6, in Washington, Hamon had made the offer of a bribe to him.

For years Hamon and the blind senator have been friends. Hamon testifies that he has loaned Gore money on various occasions, and that he has been a frequent visitor at Gore's home and office. When the "short and ugly word" was applied in the crowded court room, Gore blushed in his seat and turned his sightless eyes toward his erstwhile friend.

"Why," said Hamon, "I had not seen McMurray, whom, according to Gore's story, I was supposed to represent, for almost a year previous to May 6. At no time did McMurray seek to interest me in his proposed contracts and at no time did I intimate to any man or men that I was in any way interested in them."

Witness Takes Mean Shot
The only display of bitterness on been prosecuted on a criminal charge man Burke asked: "Do you know of any reason why Senator Gore should make these charges against you?"

"I knew that Senator Gore had been prosecuted in a criminal charge in Texas and that his brother had been accused of a crime, but I did not think that my knowledge of these affairs would lead the senator to make the charges against me."

"There is absolutely no foundation for Gore's story. I did not on May 6 or any other time suggest to Gore that he could get $25,000 or any other sum from the McMurray contracts," testified Hamon.

In answer to questions by Chairman Burke, of the investigating committee, Hamon said:

"I have known McMurray for five or six years, and have known Gore nine years, as we lived in the same town. Our relations have always been pleasant and I have loaned Gore money on several occasions and have signed notes for him."

Was Gore's Friend
"I was in Washington several times during the last session of congress. On one visit I represented Gov. Haskell in the town lot cases and while I stopped at the Occidental hotel, divided expenses of the hotel with Congressman Bird McGuire. I called on Gore every day or two while I was there."

"Did you call on Senator Gore May 6?" Chairman Burke asked.
"I think I did. I got in Washington on the fifth, and I remember I talked with the senator and told him I had come in response to a telegram received May 3."

"Orville T. Smith, counsel for Gov. Haskell, wired me to stay in Washington until Saturday in response to a telegram from me in which I said I would leave Washington that night."

"I had not seen McMurray about a year previous to May 6, the date on which Senator Gore said I gave him to understand he could get $25,000 or $50,000 out of McMurray contracts."

"Gore was the first person to tell me about the McMurray contracts, saying he had made a mistake in getting into the McMurray fight."

Denies Gore's Story
Here Chairman Burke broke into the story and asked:
"Did you say to Gore that if he would withdraw his fight on the McMurray contracts there would be $25,000 in it for him?"

"I never was interested in the McMurray contracts to the extent of a dime," Hamon replied. "There is absolutely no foundation for Gore's story."

Gore Expected Denials

Before the committee convened today Senator Gore declared the denials of Vice President Sherman, McGuire and Curtis.

(By James S. Sherman, vice president of the United States.)
Special message to the United States Press.)

BIG MOOSE, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The story that comes to me about the charges made by Senator Gore at Muskogee is absolutely without the slightest shadow of foundation.

Senator Curtis and Bird McGuire, whom he named as being interested in the contracts were not entirely unexpected.

Creager "Approached" Too
Following Senator Gore's testimony yesterday, Congressman Creager of Oklahoma was called to the stand and told of having been approached by Hamon on the land contracts. No mention was made of money. Creager declared, but Hamon told him he could have a substantial "interest" in the McMurray contracts, if he would withdraw his opposition to their approval in congress. Asked directly as to whether any figures were mentioned, Creager said he did not let it go that far.

"I made it plain that I was not open to influence in any way," he said.

Gore's Brother Verifies Charge
Dixie Gore, brother and private secretary of Senator Gore, testified to having been in an adjoining room when Hamon is alleged to have attempted to bribe the senator. Young Gore said that on leaving Hamon said:

"Dixie, I would like to make a lot of money and I don't care how I make it. The senator is rough on his friends."

He told of different times J. F. McMurray had asked him out and named one occasion when he was invited to a "frogleg" banquet, but did

WENDLING SAYS HE IS INNOGENT

Janitor Denies He Knows Anything of the Death of Alma Kellner and Trusts God

DENVER, Col., Aug. 5.—"Before God I am innocent. I know nothing of the death of that little girl except what I read in the papers."

Joseph Wendling, captured in San Francisco, on a charge of connection with the murder of little Alma Kellner in Louisville, made this statement today while sitting in a cell of the Denver Jail.

Wendling arrived from San Francisco last night with Detective Captain Carney of the Louisville police and will resume his journey to Louisville this afternoon. Chief of Police Lindsey of Louisville and Col. John W. Halen, joined Carney here.

Has Clear Conscience
"If that girl's body was found in the basement of the Louisville church," said Wendling, "it was placed there by the murderer while I slept. It will all be cleared up when I get back to Louisville."

"When a man has a clear conscience then there is no fear for him. I am not afraid, have never been afraid and never will be. I am as innocent as you and my God will take care of me. If they want to kill me when I get back to Louisville, I cannot help it. If they do, I will die a wronged man and a brave one. I never saw the little girl who was killed. We will be in Louisville pretty soon and if there is any justice in the world I will be a free man."

HICCOUGHS ARE FATAL TO FARMER

BAY CITY, Mich., Aug. 5.—Physicians at the hospital here today stated that there is little chance for Elmer Smith surviving the attack of hiccoughs that has racked his frame for ten days. Though he suffers little pain he cannot eat or sleep and apparently has lost his hold on life from exhaustion. Smith is a farmer near Mio, Oscoda county. Local physicians could not stop his hiccoughs so he was brought to the hospital here but all treatment has failed.

ST. PAUL'S CENSUS SHOWS BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—The census bureau today announced the following results of the 1910 enumeration with changes since 1900:
St. Paul, Minn., 214,744, increase 51,679, or 31.7 per cent.
Allentown, Pa., 51,913, increase 16,497, or 46.6 per cent.
Reading, Pa., 96,071, increase 17,110, or 21.7 per cent.

NO CLEW TO THE YELLOW SLAYER

Body of Mrs. Kendall Is Found Horribly Mutilated in Canyon Near Ranch

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Aug. 5.—With the bringing into town today of the mutilated body of Mrs. Ura Kendall, which was found late yesterday in a canyon near the Kendall "murder farm," on Roadhouse Mountain, the Sonoma county authorities redoubled their efforts to apprehend Henry Yamaguchi, the Japanese boy accused of the murder.

The finding of Mrs. Kendall's body and the simultaneous discovery of enough human bones on the Kendall farm to make the authorities certain that they are the bones of Enoch Kendall and his son Thomas, removed the last vestige of doubt that the family had been murdered.

Woman's Body Mutilated
The body of Mrs. Kendall was terribly mutilated. It had been decapitated and the feet cut off at the knees and the murderer had then plunged a knife or some other sharp instrument into the torso repeatedly. When found the body had been hacked almost beyond the semblance of human form.

Said He "Fixed Them"
The district attorney publicly announced today that he considers Yamaguchi responsible for the murders. He asserts that the Japanese went to the home of Henry S. Starbuck, on whose ranch the Kendalls lived on July 25 and told the Starbucks that the Kendalls attacked him "all at once" and that "I fixed them all right. I put them away."

The authorities profess to have no clews to Yamaguchi's whereabouts.

MAY RECOUNT THE VOTE OF OPPONENT

TOPEKA, Kansas, Aug. 5.—A recount of votes in the primary election in the First congressional district on grounds that some of the ballots were miscounted, may be the result of the announced victory of D. R. Anthony, stand pat candidate for re-nomination.

Although no official count has been obtained, T. A. McNeal, progressive contestant has stated that he believes votes were cast for him, and were counted for Anthony. However, he makes no charges of fraud.

McNeal urges that despite a miscount, Anthony has a majority of only 86 votes, which might easily be cut down by a recount. He said last night that he was considering contesting the nomination of his opponent. The official canvass of the vote will be made today, the result of which will determine McNeal's actions. Anthony claims a majority of over 500.

TAFT DEDICATES PILGRIMS' SHAFT

President's Mayflower Sails Over Course of the Original at Provincetown Today

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Aug. 5.—Where two hundred and ninety years ago, the Mayflower sailed in to the wintry mists that overhung Provincetown Bay today, her nameake, the United States Steamship Mayflower, with the president blue flag streaming from her peak, steamed majestically through a lane of eight warships, under a haze of smoke from roaring cannon, that belched a 21-gun salute to the chief executive.

Here, two hundred and ninety years ago, the pilgrims landed and today President Taft dedicated to their memory an enduring massive memorial. A distinguished company joined the president in celebrating the dedication of the $100,000 memorial.

An impressive naval spectacle preceded the formal ceremonies.
It was President Taft's first naval review and as the trim white Mayflower, say in comparison, steamed between the lines of dull grey warships the chief executive straightened up proudly on the bridge of the Mayflower. The long lines of jacks on the decks of the warships cheered mightily as the guns thundered their salute and the president violated naval regulations to wave his hand to them as the Mayflower passed.

At the close of the review the Mayflower anchored inshore, opposite the Dolphin, Secretary of the Navy Meyer's yacht. The president received formal calls from Rear Admirals Schroeder and Vreeland and the captains of each of the war vessels. The president, Mrs. Taft, Senators Lodge and Wetmore, Supreme Court Justice White and the other members of the president's party, held a reception for the visitors on the quarter deck of the Mayflower.

A tremendous crowd cheered the chief executive as he stepped from the Mayflower's launch and passed up the crooked narrow streets, hung with a wealth of flags and bunting, to the foot of the towering shaft he later dedicated.

1,000 DIE IN MASSACRE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 5.—Fully 1,000 Christians and muslims have been slain this week in the massacres in Syria, according to dispatches today from Damascus. "HOD" TAYLOR DEAD AT WASHINGTON HOME

PRINCESS MAY SINKS WITH A HUNDREDSOULS

This Is Meager Wireless Report Late Today from Juneau, Alaska, to Seattle

PASSENGERS MAY BE SAFE

Hopeful Opinion Is Expressed that Fast Canadian Liner Got Them to Shore First

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 5.—A wireless dispatch from Juneau, Alaska, today states that the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess May, carrying 100 passengers, is sinking off Center Island. The Princess May was bound to Victoria from Skaguay and was due in Juneau today. No details of the disaster have been received.

Passengers May Be Safe

The Juneau wireless station reports this afternoon that it has been unable to reach the Princess May by wireless and that it is believed the vessel has gone down. It is believed, however, that the passengers were put ashore before the boat sunk.

"Sinking," Says Wireless

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 5.—Further verification of the wreck of the steamship Princess May was received here today when both wireless stations caught a wireless message sent from the Princess May, merely saying: "Sinking."

The message was relayed here through several land stations. It is impossible so far to get the Princess May's passenger list.

The Princess May is an 1800 ton vessel and is regarded as the fastest boat in the Alaskan service.

MILWAUKEEAN IS GOLF CHAMPION

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Aug. 5.—The 1910 state women's golf championship will certainly come to Milwaukee as a result of the semi-finals played today. Mrs. Whitcomb of the Milwaukee Country club, who first won fame as runner up in a western championship, when still Miss Palmatier of Kenosha, defeated Miss Thayer, Blue Mound, Milwaukee, in the morning play, and Mrs. Niedeken, Blue Mound, Milwaukee, present champion, defeated Miss Budd, Oshkosh. Blue Mound was awarded the 1911 tournament at the annual meeting this noon.

ALFONSO IS BADLY SHAKEN IN SMASH

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 5.—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria had a bad scare just before landing at Cowes, when a strong wind and heavy tide drove the two tenders on which they and their suite were being conveyed last evening from the steamer into violent collision.

The windows and chandeliers of the tenders were broken and the vessels damaged. There was great alarm momentarily but the tenders soon righted and proceeded without further mishap.

TEXAS BISHOP DIES AT GREEN BAY

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 5.—Bishop Edward Dunne, of the diocese of Dallas, Texas, one of the best known Catholic prelates of the south, was found dead in bed this morning at the residence of Bishop Fox of the Green Bay diocese, having died during the night of heart failure. He had been on a vacation trip to Sturgeon Bay and had come over to Green Bay for a visit with Bishop Fox. The remains will be taken to Dallas.

STRIKERS DISPLEASED

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 5.—Bitter disappointment is being expressed today by the conductors and trainmen of the Grand Trunk railway, who were out on strike, and who expected to be taken back immediately after the settlement several days ago.

Only a few of the strikers have been returned to their old positions, and those who have been taken back complain that they are being forced to work with strikebreakers.

MOB THREATENS NEGRO

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 5.—A mob of angry men with clubs and guns are hunting a negro in the brush near Buckner, Mo., threatening to burn him at the stake for an attack today on Clara Baldus, 15 year old daughter of a farmer near Independence.

END COMES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Under President McKinley

WELL KNOWN IN LA CROSSE

Father-in-Law of Waterways Commissioner Ray S. Reid of This City

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—(Special.)—Horace A. Taylor, assistant secretary of the treasury under President William McKinley and for many years a prominent resident of Hudson, and Madison, Wis., died here at 9 o'clock this morning at his home, 2007 Massachusetts Ave., after several months' illness.

Six weeks ago his physicians recommended that he be taken to Atlantic City, N. J., in the hope that the sea air would benefit him. This change however did not appear to help the patient and at his own request he was brought back to Washington something over a week ago. In his home he seemed to rally considerably but the change seems to have worked temporary relief and those about his bedside a few days ago began to realize the inevitable was near and the end came this morning.

Mr. Taylor expressed a wish that his remains be interred in Rock Creek cemetery in this city and though the greater portion of his business and political life had been closely affiliated with Wisconsin and its affairs, his final wishes will be respected and interment will be in the cemetery of his selection. His wife and daughter, Mrs. W. D. Morse of Minneapolis, were at his bedside and numerous relatives and friends from Wisconsin are expected to attend the funeral which will take place Sunday afternoon from the late residence of the deceased. Decedent was born in New York and removed with his parents to Wisconsin in 1874. He established the River Falls, Wis., Journal and had extensive interests in and about Hudson, Wis. He went to France as a consular agent in 1883 and was a former member of the Wisconsin state senate.

Horace A. Taylor was the father-in-law of Waterways Commissioner Ray S. Reid, of this city, and was well known in La Crosse. While he never resided here he had a large number of friends and acquaintances in La Crosse. After leaving Hudson he made his home in Madison for a number of years and for ten years he resided at Washington. Three years ago he left on a two-years' trip around the world, returning a year ago. He was a brother of Lute Taylor, who died a number of years ago.

Success

In any business does not depend entirely upon the class of goods you keep or the prices you ask for them.

You may have the best class of goods in town at very low prices, but if you don't advertise, who is going to know it? If you have the best class of goods or the cheapest class, you should advertise if you want to sell them.

People of all classes read your ads, some looking for high grade goods, some looking for cheap goods.

Whatever you have, advertise judiciously in The Tribune and success is sure to follow.

SAYS DEMOCRATS WILL NAME SPEAKER

CALUMET, Mich., Aug. 5.—Carrying the word of hope for democratic victory in the congressional elections, this fall into this far northern country, Norman E. Mack, national democratic chairman, who is taking a trip up the lakes, today predicted that a democratic speaker will replace Cannon next session.

Aboard the steamer Northwest in Portage lake, he predicted big democratic congressional gains and a democratic governor for New York as a result of a split in the republican party. Mack denied that he would become a candidate for the New York governorship but said that Mayor Gaynor of the metropolis might.

"The trouble in republican ranks," he said, "as shown by the recent primaries augurs well for us."

STAFFORD STANDS WITH INTERESTS

Record of Milwaukee Congressman Shown Up in La Follette's Magazine

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 5.—Congressman William H. Stafford of the Fifth district of Milwaukee is held up to criticism in the Roll Call of this week's issue of La Follette's Weekly Magazine as "The One" consistent standpatter of the Wisconsin delegation. His record for the fourteen years he has been in congress is analyzed with reference to all important legislation. He is almost invariably shown up to be on the side of "Big Business as against public interest." Two years ago when Stafford was a candidate for re-election he announced that he was a progressive and cited votes to substantiate his statement. Examination of these votes, however, discloses four out of five were cast within a week of adjournment, so that he began making his so-called progressive record within six days of the adjournment of the long session.

"Stafford was a member of the famous Mann committee appointed to 'investigate' the tariff on wood pulp and print paper, that is, the committee was appointed to prevent any action effecting the tariff on pulp and paper until the general tariff revision. Stafford joined in the report of the committee for the reduction of the duties. The house made the duty on print paper $2. The senate made it $4. The conference committee made it $3.75. At this point, Stafford's faith in the results of the 'investigation' failed. While Chairman Mann of the pulp and paper committee departed from the organization on the conference report, Stafford departed from Mann, and stood by the organization.

"In the last session of congress, was presented to Stafford the opportunity of his public career, an opportunity to prove his assumed title, 'Supporter of Progressive Legislation.' In the last session of congress the progressives of the house made history in their fight on the Cannon rules.

"The first successful assault of Cannonism was the taking from the speaker of the power to appoint the Pinchot-Ballinger investigation committee. On the question, Stafford stood by Cannon and against the progressives. In the progressive fight he was precipitated by the Norris resolution in March. Stafford set his face against progress and cast his vote, roll call after roll call throughout the long battle, for Cannon, Cannonism and the system.

"In this session, Stafford had the distinction of being the only member of the Wisconsin delegation in the house to record his vote against the creation of national forest reserve in the southern Appalachian and White mountains—the keystone measure of the Roosevelt program of progressive conservation legislation."

But another feature of this number which is of particular interest to Wisconsin voters is an article entitled, "Wisconsin in the Sixty-first Congress" by Edgar E. Robinson, a recent university of Wisconsin graduate. He says that taken as a whole the Wisconsin delegation is progressive.

"Naturally there are varying degrees, as men differ as to methods, but the conclusion of this tabulation is obvious," says Mr. Robinson.

"Judging by their votes, eight are progressive, one is a standpat Cannonite, one has been absent on these vital roll calls but has otherwise voted with the machine, and one is a democrat in absentia."

"Members of the Wisconsin delegation have led in the vital discussions of the past session. The votes here given constitute their record. Their own words given in debate are the best defense of that record."

The Milwaukee convention is pictured in this article as a "fake" convention" engineered in Washington and financed in Wall street."

DEVELOP A NEW BREED OF OATS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 5.—Experiments covering a period of twelve years with the object of developing a breed of oats that would yield more than any other kind in this state brought unlooked-for results this week on the university farm, when the returns ran 76 bushels to the acre. The work of all the years now brought to so successful a close was under the direction of Prof. R. A. Moore, the noted agronomist, who invented the cure for oat smut, by which, at an expense of one cent a bushel to farmers, from three to six million dollars are saved yearly to Wisconsin farmers.

FALLING OFF IN EAU CLAIRE, TOO

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug. 5.—The annual school census for 1910 has been filed and shows that there has been a decrease of 355 in the number of children of school age as compared with the number last year. In 1909 the total number was $6,421 while the present census shows a falling off to 6,066. It is thought more children passed the maximum school age than entered it the present year.

HE PREDICTS GREAT DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

D. C., after a trip through California, declaring that insurgency has torn the republican party asunder throughout the west and middle west, Representative James T. Lloyd (Missouri), chairman of the democratic national congressional committee, returned to Washington today after a trip through California, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas.

"Our high hopes of the spring have grown continuously until now it looks like a certainty that we will sweep the country," he said.

THERE STANDS KANSAS

No one is asking, What's the matter with Kansas? Not even Cansas. Everybody knows and no one wonders.

Kansas has spoken in insurgent accents. The militant Stubbs scora-a victory. The insurgents have captured congressional districts.
Murdock and Madison, able insurgents, were too strong to invite even nominal "regular" opposition.

The first real tug of war between the standpatters and insurgents came in Kansas, and the former triumphed at wide-open primaries.
Cannon's pathetic efforts did not stem the tide.

What does Kansas want? What the whole middle west wants. There is nothing "cranky" about her verdict. She wants popular government, honest politics, legislation in the interest of the people instead of
in that of privilege, genuine and systematic conservation, equal opportunity. Her protest is moral,
not financial. She has little to complain of, materially speaking, but she wants more starch in the application of the progressive policies.

As speaks Kansas so thinks the west, certain machine-controlled appearances in Ohio, Indiana and elsewhere to the contrary notwithstanding.

Wall street concerning the proposed governmental investigation. The market depression seems to carry out the prediction of Senator Aldrich and others that a probe into stock and bond watering would "destroy public confidence in the railroad business, jeopardize an industry in which twenty billions are invested, hurt innocent holders of stocks and do no good."

If the drop in prices is due to a fear of investigation, that very fact is the best of evidence that an investigation should be made. A railway or any other concern that has nothing to fear would be benefited by a general probe. The concerns that are overcapitalized and have been managed in the interests of high finance will have to abide by the result of an inquiry, as a matter of justice to the public and to the railway companies that are entitled to public confidence.

An investigation, instead of destroying the confidence of the public, will give to the twenty billions invested a degree of security they will not have until the people have the last bit of suspicion removed from their minds. There is a general belief that some roads are earning dividends on water. The public does not know which are the ones properly capitalized, and the result is that there is lack of confidence in all.
That doubt would be cleared up by having the facts brought to light in a governmental investigation.—St.

A BOY'S HOLIDAYS

The ardent controversy which has been waging in England and America concerning the best way to dispose of school boys in the long summer vacation has prompted the Grand Trunk Railway System to issue a special publication giving suggestions and practical hints to parents as to what to do with the school boy during the months of July and August.
The vacation camp is one of the solutions and the publication entitled
"What Shall a Boy Do With His Vacation?" thoroughly covers the ground. A copy may be obtained

MOSLEM'S VICTIM
ARRIVES HOME

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Miss Agnes Parker Moore of Terre Haute, Ind., who was shot by a fanatic Moslem
in the mosque of Omar at Jerusalem, is in New York preparing for her return home. She arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, accompanied by her friend, Miss Anna B.
Sankey, also of Terre Haute.

Miss Moore is totally blind in one eye as a result of the shooting.

Miss Moore and Miss Sankey, both women of means, went to Europe in February. They planned to tour the Holy Land. The shooting occurred on March 9, the two women being in a party of eight Americans who visited the mosque on that date. They had secured the proper permission and complied with all the regulations, including the donning of slippers. Beneath a great stone on which Abraham is said to have offered sacrifices is a dark circular stairway leading to a crypt. Half way down steps was a Mohammedan praying.
He sprang to his feet, revolver in hand, firing five shots. The first struck Miss Maurice of New York in the arm. Two bullets struck Miss Moore. The Turkish guard accompanying the tourists overpowered the Moslem, who later received a long prison sentence.

Miss Moore, seriously wounded,
was for weeks in the German hospital maintained in Jerusalem through the liberality of the German empress, the nurses in which are deaconesses of the Lutheran church.

The Moslem who did the shooting claimed that the sanctity of the mosque was being violated by the entry of the foreign "infidels."

MONTANA FOREST
FIRES ALARMING

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 5.—The forest fire situation in western Montana is growing alarming. Fifteen hundred men are fighting the flames
and a call has been issued for more.
The town of Taft is surrounded by flames and it is feared that it is doomed.

A fresh fire has broken out on Mt.
Haggin, near Anaconda, while the state board of land commissioners today received a report that the situation in the Flathead country is serious. The Stillwater section is particularly bad with no hope of controlling the flames. The weather is very hot and everything quite dry.
Four hundred million feet of fine timber in the Lolo forest belonging to the Big Blackfoot Milling company, a subsidiary of the Amalgamated Copper company, is threatened, while a whole section of valuable yellow pine in the Bitter Root forest was burned yesterday. Men are being recruited in various cities to fight the flames. Even Helena, 150 miles distant, is smoke-ridden.

DISEASE GERMS
MYSTERIOUSLY GONE

TOPEKA, Kansas, Aug. 5.—
That 3 phials containing tuberculosis and diphtheria germs, enough to depopulate the entire state, disappeared last Friday from the United States mails, came to light today when the phials, open and empty, were found in an alley in the west part of the city. The package was addressed to Dr. Sarah Greenfield, bacteriologist of the Kansas state board of health. The authorities decline to divulge the location of the spot where the tubes
were found, and say they have no idea as to how they disappeared.

NO HEADWAY IN STRIKE SETTLEMENT

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—Business
Agent Charles Miller of the Car
Men's union said there was no proposition before the men looking to a final settlement of the strike.
The result of the governor's peace conference was entirely unsatisfactory, he said.

S. SS, SSS, SSSS, SSSSS

This is not a puzzle.

These letters are used by the superior officers of the German army to indicate, on their reports, the degree of drunkenness attained by their subordinates.

S is the first letter of the words
saufen (to drink heavily), sehr (very much), stark (strong),
schlecht (bad) and schnapps.

This is how the letters are combined:

One S indicates that the officer
mentioned drinks a little more than is good for him (saufen.)

SS indicates that he drinks very much (sauf stark.)

SSS that he drinks enormously
(sauf sehr stark.)

SSSS that he swallows a huge quantity of schnapps (sauf sehr stark schnapps.)

SSSSS that he swallows prodigious quantities of bad schnapps (sauf sehr stark schlechten schnapps.)

This last note is generally fatal,
for although it is not a crime in the German army to drink enormous quantities of schnapps, it is an unpardonable offense to drink spirits of bad quality. Pearson's Weekly.

Minor Premises

A minister being sent to officiate
one Sunday at a country parish was accommodated at night in the manse in a very diminutive apartment, instead of the usual best bedroom appropriated to strangers.

"Is that the bedroom?" he said,
starting back in amazement.

"Deed, aye, sir; this is the prophet's chamber."

"It must be for the minor prophets

then," said the discomfited parson.

Studying the Law

Judge Clark A. Smith told a good story to several of the class, who were visiting with him. The story is an old one, as the judge stated,
but the youngsters enjoyed it thoroughly.

In the old days when oral examinations were still the thing, an examining board was pummeling an applicant with questions from Blackstone, Kent and other famous legal lights.

"I didn't study anything about those fellows," complained the applicant.

"What did you study?" asked one of the judges.

"I studied the statutes of the state," he replied. "I studied them hard. Ask me a question about them and I'll show you. That is where I got my legal knowledge."

"My young friend," said one austere judge on the examining board,
"you had better be very careful, for some day the Legislature might meet and repeal everything you know."—

The Guarantee

Apropos of the superb additions to the Metropolitan Museum in New York, F. Hopkinson Smith said at a dinner at Delmonico's:

"They are good works, too. They are all good works. Not like our American Rembrandts."

"I am afraid that most of our millionaires bought their Rembrandts too carelessly—much as Gobsa Golde bought his."

"Gobsa Golde, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Lotta, picked out a Rembrandt at a foreign dealer's and then, before planking down the cash,
said very sternly:

"Now, see here, sir, do you guarantee this Rembrandt?"

"Yes, Mr. Golde," the dealer replied. "A seven years' guarantee goes with the canvas."

"Oh, very well," said Gobsa, mollified, and he took out his cheque
book and fountain pen."—Pittsburg

COFFEE KING WANTS TO RAISE THE MAINE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—John Arbuckle, the coffee king, whose hobby is the raising of sunken ships, has been in conference with the war department relative to the raising of the Maine in Havana Harbor.

While Mr. Arbuckle does not claim to be an engineer, he has made a hobby of raising sunken ships and has succeeded in one or two cases where engineers of national repute have failed. In view of his success in this line the department looks very favorably upon the plans he has submitted.

The GIRL FROM HIS TOWN

MARIE VAN VORST

With Gordon Galorey and the others he had ridden, shot better than they, and had played, but with Lady Galorey and the Duchess of Breakwater he was nothing but a child.
As far as his hostess was concerned,
on several occasions she had put to him certain states of affairs, well, touchingly. Dan had been moved by the stories of sore need among the tenants, had been impressed by the necessity of reforms and rebuild-ings, and on each occasion had given his hostess a check. She had asked him to say nothing about it to Gordon, and he had kept his silence.
Dan liked Lady Galorey extremely;
she was jolly, witty and friendly. She treated him as a member of the family and made no demands on him,
save the ones mentioned.

In the time that he had come to know the Duchess of Breakwater
she, on her part, had filled him full of other confidences. Into his young ears she poured the story of her disappointment, her disjointed life,
from her worldly girlhood to her disillusion in marriage. She was beautiful when she talked and more lovely when she wept. Dan thought himself in love with the Duchess of Breakwater. His conversations with her had brought him to this conclusion. They had motored from Osdene Park together, and he had been extremely taken with the pleasure of it, and with the fact of their real companionship. Two or three times the words had been on his lips, which were fated not to be spoken then, however, and Dan reached the Gaiety still unfettered, his duchess by his side. And then the orchestra had begun to play Mandala-ry, the curtain had gone up and Lettie Lane had come out on the boards. But her apparition did not strike off his chains immediately, nor did he renounce his plan to tell the duchess the very next day that he loved her.

When with sparkling eyes Lady Galorey raved about Mandalary, Dan listened with eagerness. Everybody seemed to know all about Lettie Lane, but he alone knew from what town she had come!

They went for supper at the Carlton after the theater.

"Lettie," Lady Galorey said, "tells it herself how the impressario heard her sing in some country church—picked her up then and there and brought her over here, and they say she married him."

Dan Blair could have told them
how she had sung in that little church that day. Dan was eating his caviare sandwich. "Her name
then was Sally Towney," he murmured. How little he had guessed that she was singing herself right out of that church, and into the London Gaiety Theater! Anyway,
she had made him "sit up!" It was a far cry from Montana to the London Gaiety. And so she married the greasy Jew who had discovered her!

Dan glanced over at the Duchess of Breakwater. She was looking well, exquisitely high bred, and she impressed him. She leaned slightly over to him, laughing. He had hardly dared to meet her eyes that day, fearing that she might read his secret. She had told him that in her own right she was a countess—the Countess of Stainer. Titles didn't cut any ice with him. At any rate, she would be able to "buy back the old farm"—that is the way Dan put it. She had told him of the beautiful old Stainer Court, mortgaged and hung up with debts, as deep in ruins as the ivy was thick
on the walls.

As Dan looked over at the duchess he saw the other people staring and looking about at a table near.
It was spread a little to their left for four people, a great bouquet of orchids in the center.

"There," Galorey said, "there's Lettie Lane." And the singer came in, followed by three men, the first of them the Prince Ponotowsky, indolent, bored, haughty, his eye-glass dangling. Miss Lane was dressed in black, a superb costume of faultless
cut, and it enfolded her like a shadow; as a shadow might enfold a specter, for the dancer was as pale as the dead. She had neither painted nor rouged, she had evidently employed no coquetry to disguise
her age; rather she seemed to be on the verge of a serious illness, and presented a striking contrast to the brilliant creature, who had shone
before their eyes not an hour before.
Her dress was a challenge to the more gay and delicate affairs the other women in the restaurant wore.
The gown came severely up to her chin. Its high collar closed around with a pearl necklace; from her ears fell pearls, long, creamy and priceless. She wore a great feathered hat, which, drooping, almost hid her small, pale face and her golden hair.
She drew off her gloves as she came in and her white, jeweled hands flashed. She looked infinitely tired and extremely bored. As soon as she took her seat at the table intended for her party, Ponotowsky poured her out a glass of champagne,
which she drank off as though it were water.

"Gad," Lord Galorey said, "she is a stunner. What a figure, and what a head, and what daring to dress like that!"

"She knows how to make herself conspicuous," said the Duchess of Breakwater.

"She looks extremely ill," said
Lady Galorey. "The pace she goes will do her up in a year or two."

Dan Blair had his back to her,
and when the rose to leave he was the last to pass out. Lettie Lane saw him, and a light broke over her pallid face. She nodded and smiled and shook her hand in a pretty little salute. If her face was pale, her lips were red, and her smile was like sunlight; and at her recognition
a wave of friendly fellowship swept over the young man—a sort of loyal kinship to her which he hadn't felt for any other woman there, and which he could not have explained.
In warm approval of the actress'
distinction, he said softly to himself: "That's all right—she makes the rest of them look like thirty cents."

CHAPTER VI.
Galorey Seeks Advice

Blair did not go back at once to Osden Park. He stopped over in London for a few days to see Joshua Ruggles, and so remarked for the first time the difference between the speech of the old and the new world. Mr. Ruggles spoke broadly, with complete disregard of the frills
and adornments of the King's English. He spoke United States of the pure, broad, western brand, and it rang out, it vibrated and swelled and rolled, and as Ruggles didn't care who heard him, nothing of what he had to say was lost.

Old Mr. Blair had left behind him a comrade, and as far as advice could go the old man knew that his Dan would not be bankrupt.

"Advice," Dan Blair senior once said to his boy, "is the kind of thing we want some fellow to give us when we ain't going to do the thing we ought to do, or are a little ashamed of something we have done. It's an awful good way to get cured of asking advice just to do what the fellow tells you to at once."

During Ruggles' stay in London
the young fellow looked to it that Ruggles saw the sights, and the two did the principal features of the big town, to the rich enjoyment of the Westerner. Dan took his friend every night to the play, and on the fourth evening Ruggles said: "Let's go to the circus or a vaudeville, Dan. I have learned this show by heart!"
They had been every night to see Mandalary.

"Oh, you go on where you like,
Josh," the boy answered. "I'm going to see how she looks from the pit."
Ruggles was not a Blairtown man.
He had come from farther west, and had never heard anything of Sarah Towney or Lettie Lane. He had plauded the actress vigorously at the Gaiety at first, and after the third night slept through most of the performance. When he waked up he tried to discover what attraction Lettie Lane had for Dan. For the young man never left Ruggles' side,
never went behind the scenes,
though he seemed absorbed, as a man usually is absorbed for one reason only.

S. S. S. THE REAL CURE
FOR SCROFULA

Scrofula is a blood disease manifested usually by an ulceration of the glands. It is almost entirely hereditary in its origin, being the seeds or dregs of some specific blood poison which has been transmitted, in modified form, to the offspring of diseased parentage. Where the blood is specially vitiated Scrofula attacks other portions of the system beside the glands, and we see its effects frequently in weak eyes, poorly developed bodies, running sores and ulcers, skin diseases like scaldhead, catarrhal troubles etc. While the young are the usual sufferers from scrofulous troubles, it is true that it is sometimes held in check until middle life is reached, or passed, and then, as the physical system begins to decline, older persons are attacked by the disease. S. S. S. is the one real and certain cure for Scrofula. It is a blood purifier without an equal and it cures this destructive blood poison by removing the germs from the blood and so enriching and building up the circulation that the disease can not remain. S. S. S. searches out every taint and impurity from the blood; it gives to the blood the richness and power necessary to the healthy growth of children, and it strengthens and invigorates the constitutions of older persons, by its fine tonic effects.
S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine, perfectly safe for young or old. Scrofula being a blood disease can only be cured by a blood purifier like S. S. S.

JAMES CASSIDY DEAD; AGED 93

Succumbs to Ravages of Old Age Last Night; Widow Is Seriously Ill from the Shock

James Cassidy, aged 93 years, died at his home, 2037 Loomis street about 9 o'clock last night, dissolution being due to his advanced age. He had been ill about ten days and had been confined to his bed but three days.

He is survived by a widow and a niece, Mrs. Foley, Wauwatosa, Wis., who is now in the city.

The widow of the deceased man is seriously ill at her home and last night was not expected to live. She is 84 years of age and the shock of her husband's death had much to do with her present condition.

Mr. Cassidy was born in Ireland ninety-three years ago and came to this country when but a young man, locating at Newark, N. J., where he lived for several years. He then removed to Milwaukee living there and at Richland Center, Wis., for several years. From the latter place he went to Lansing, Ia., where he resided for twenty-five years, being one of the early settlers of this Iowa town. For the past eight years he had been a resident of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy had been married for sixty-two years.

Funeral services will be held at the St. James church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Rev. Ambrose Murphy officiating and Undertaker Dwyer in charge. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

COURT BUSY WITH DRUNKS AND BUMS

Thursday afternoon was a live one in county court.

After winding up the Dr. Lahn trial Judge Brindley gave William Mackey, a beggar, thirty days in the county jail for his health. Mackey displayed an arm covered with sores as a pry for his "touch." The police claim the arm was doctored with carbolic acid.

John MacDonald who on a previous occasion denied that he was a common drunkard was sent to the jail to pound rock for thirty days following a trial in which several policemen testified against him.

William Morley, common drunkard, pulled down a thirty-day sentence.

MILL STREET IS BLOCKED BY CAR

A derailed freight car in a "string" in the Milwaukee yards blocked the Mill street crossing this morning from 8:30 o'clock until 9 o'clock. The car was in a train that was being made up and the accident was due to the dropping of a brake beam. With the aid of "shoes" the car was replaced on the rails and traffic resumed.

RIVER TRAFFIC DOOMED HE SAYS

Captain William Leyhe Sees the End of Extensive Business on the Mississippi River

Capt. Wm. Leyhe, president of the Eagle Packet company, which operates lower down the Mississippi river, takes a gloomy view of the future of river business. He is quoted as saying that the steamboat trade is absolutely doomed. He believes there will not be another steamboat left on the Mississippi river within another twenty-five years.

Captain Leyhe said the railroads were driving the boats off the river, owing to the quickness of freight and passenger delivery by them.

He said the railroads could deliver freight much more expeditiously than the steamboats and at satisfactory rates. Captain Leyhe thinks the river will never be useful any more from a commercial viewpoint. He said he did not believe the river trade of old times would be revived, even if a fourteen foot channel were built. He thinks the river will be used for small pleasure boats and as big drainage canal.

It is strange that a river captain concedes the railroads the advantage in the matter of quick delivery of freight. The boats are slow enough but in seasons of congestion the cars don't move at all and the freight for which the consignee is anxiously waiting may be sidetracked for thirty days.

COURT MARTIAL FACES OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—With a court martial facing the officers and a charge of desertion with possible penalties of three or five years imprisonment, threatening the deserters from the district naval militia ship Ozark, the comedy cruise of the Washington Amateur tars took a sudden plunge into tragedy.

Charges of sending the Ozark to sea in an unfit condition, of supplying spoiled and inferior food to the crew, and of negligence in caring for the water supply were brought by the deserting citizen sailors against their officers.

Raymond Walker, listed with the Ozark as a seaman-apprentice, stated that he had dropped in weight from 145 pounds to 126 in the ten days' cruise. Harry Hibbs, another sailor who took French leave, declares that the ships supply of meat was allowed to remain on the wharf at Fort Monroe for 48 hours, under a burning sun before being taken aboard. All the deserters charge that the food was revolting to their stomachs.

The officers on the other hand are determined to inflict the limit of punishment on the deserters.

The term for desertion, under the regulations of the district militia, is three years for individual cases of desertion and five years in the event of a conspiracy to desert.

If only the tongue had power to taste some of the words it helps to form, more sanitary languages would be used.

A young, spoony couple sometimes looks foolish, but this would be a mighty miserable world to live in without love.

ICE CREAM & BUTTER COMPANY

FINE RECEPTION
FROM ROCKEFELLER

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 5.—John D. Rockefeller has worked an innovation which, if taken as a precedent for future action, will make Forest Hill the mecca for keen scent-process servers.

After the adventure with the oil magnate Deputy Sheriff Halloran is suffering severely from shock.

For more than a week Halloran has been fondling the process papers in a suit for $5550,000 against the oil king, with mixed trepidation and despair at the thought of possible setbacks that might be placed in the path of his duty. Today he buckled up his courage a couple of notches and knocked at the massive gate of Forest Hill.

When the deputy sheriff announced his mission Keeper Pat Lynch telephoned the mansion and then turned to the officer, saying:

"Mr. Rockefeller will see you and has ordered a carriage to take you to the house."

John D. met Halloran on the veranda, gave him a warm handclasp and ushered him into the parlor.

"I am glad to see you. What can I do for you?"

After Halloran went through the formality of serving the summons, Rockefeller said:

"Now, I'll have you driven out to the gate, if you wish."

"If it suits you just as well, I'd rather walk back and see the grounds," Halloran told Rockefeller.

"Very well," said the oil king. "If you want to get the best view go this way," he added, as he pointed to a path.

"I never got a better reception in my life," Halloran said upon his return to the court house. "I had visions that I would be compelled to jump over the barbed wire fence surrounding the Rockefeller place and I was prepared to do that if necessary."

The way Rockefeller received me took me completely by surprise. He's a kindly old fellow, isn't he?"

MINNEAPOLIS MAN
IS ARRESTED HERE

Charged with stealing from the Adams Express company for which he was working in Minneapolis, J. C. Robinson was arrested yesterday morning in a little camp at the south end of Barron's island and yesterday noon was taken back to Minneapolis. Robinson was traced from Minneapolis from which city he disappeared June 5, to Montana and through the Dakotas. He came here last Saturday and registered at a local hotel under the name of Jack Richards. He was arrested by the local police, who learned that he was camping on the island.

KING GEORGE'S
CAMP BREAKS UP

Dignitaries Return from Annual Outing of the House of Lords of the Mississippi

The House of Lords of the Isle of Man on the Upper Mississippi broke camp yesterday after a three days' outing under the dictatorship of King George Holzhammer which, the natives say, was "some outing" and will live in the memories of the plebians of the valley.

The House of Lords was organized Aug. 1st, 1909, and its annual outings are held Aug. 1, 2 and 3 of each year at the Holzhammer cottage on Crosby point.

This year's outing began Monday and continued until Thursday when the campers returned to La Crosse.

Tuesday the annual election was held as follows:

King of the Isle—George Holzhammer.

Governor—Oscar F. Anderson

Lieut. Gov.—R. C. Spencer, Minneapolis.

Mayor—Lannie Horne, Minneapolis.

President of Council—Leo Gahan, Tomahawk, Wis.

Chief of Police—F. M. Wilcox, La Crosse.

Sheriff—Charles F. Storandt.

Chief of Commissary Dept.—Herman Noll.

Band Master—Joseph J. Moulis.

Members of Band—J. J. Moulis, Ed. Moulis, Martin Moulis, George Sokolik, Max Streck and drummers, soldiers, sword carriers, etc.

The Moulis band went to the camp Tuesday and serenaded the campers, of whom there were 32 that day. The Holzhammer launch was attached to their boats and a parade in front of Brownsville, Minn., was pulled off. The band and campers serenaded the business houses of Brownsville and calling up friends in La Crosse serenaded them over the long distance telephone. Emil Ruprecht arrived Tuesday with a stew kettle and prepared a "red stew" which was enjoyed by the officials and plebians of the island.

During the week many prominent visitors were arrested and "hand-cuffed," and given a trial before a Kangaroo court.

The House of Lords' annual outing threatens to outshine the famous Engineers' annual picnic—especially as to the number of fish caught.

COFFEE FOR SISTER

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. F. J. Noetzel entertained at a coffee in honor of her sister, Mrs. Herman Noll, Jr., of Clifton, Ariz., who is her guest for the week. The invited guests were: Mesdames Herman Noll, Jr., Paul Lutz, Thos. Bailey, E. J. Felzer, Clarence Sorensen, A. J. Loeffler, Will Fraser, Herman Noll, Sr., L. Hammerbacher of St. Paul, Minn., and the Misses Elizabeth Lehnen, Mayme Spettel, Camilla Grams and Helen Webber.

YEOMEN SOCIAL

The Yeomen of America council, No. 250, held an ice cream social last night at Burns' park, the park being beautifully illuminated with Japanese lanterns. Although a little cool the affair was a phenomenal success and was well attended. Everyone reported a jolly good time. Great credit is due the committee in charge.

PRIDGE PARTY

Miss Helen Scofield entertained at a bridge this afternoon in honor of Miss Gertrude Wright of Green Bay, who is the guest of Miss Gertrude Tausche. Others present were the Misses Miriam Dietz of Hazelton, Pa., Gertrude Tausche, Eleanor Martindale, Ane Ray, Julia and Lillian Waters, Blanche Holcomb, Mary Anderson, Gertrude Smith, Anne Colman, Margaret Farnam, Josephine Traer, Cora Schultz and Ruth Heath.

Miss Helen Anderson entertained at a farewell party Tuesday evening for Miss Dorothy Usher, who leaves tonight for Reedsburg after a few weeks spent in the city with her mother.

MISSIE BIEBINGER ENTERTAIN

The Misses Pauline and Luella Biebinger entertained fifteen of their little friends at their home, 315 South Sixth street, Thursday afternoon. Various games were played till the refreshment hour, after which the guests bade their hostesses adieu and departed for their respective homes, having enjoyed a delightful afternoon.

PARK PICNICS

The parks around the city are infested with picnickers these days, Myrick park having a little more than its share yesterday. The German Reform, church and Sunday school held a large gathering of the church members, and their families and friends.

In another group were gathered between forty and fifty of the members and congregation of the M. E. church to do honor to Rev. Irish, their former pastor, nearly all having been members of Mr. Irish's Bible class. A most bountiful and delicious supper was served after which the reverend gentleman was escorted to the train by many of his friends. Mr. Irish and family are camping at the present time at Lake Chetek.

The Ladies' circle of St. Paul's Universalist church held a pleasant picnic at the same place about thirty being present. At a business meeting it was decided to give the Rev. Longbrake of Hartford, Wis., a call to their church.

The Royal Neighbors were also out in full force with a number of their friends.

BOARD OF REVIEW
COMPLETES WORK

After having been in session for several weeks, the board of review completed its work this morning and Tax Commissioner Joseph J. Frisch will now get his books in shape to be turned over to the city clerk, who, in turn, will prepare them for the city treasure. The board heard many complaints from property owners, who claimed their property was assessed too high, and in each case the matter was satisfactorily adjusted.

FIRE DEPARTMENT
IS SHORT OF MEN

The board of police and fire commissioners announces that a civil service examination for applicants for the fire department will be held in the city hall on the evening of August 10. Two vacancies exist in the fire department at present, caused by the drowning of "Butch" Fay of the central fire company, and the resignation of Bert Goodenough of station No. 4.

FEAR TIDAL WAVE
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—The belief that a tidal wave, or perhaps several such manifestations occurred in the Atlantic ocean about 2,000 miles southeast of Washington, was expressed today by Father Torndorf, of Georgetown University, after examining the seismograph records made by an extraordinary disturbance last night.
The tremors continued from 8:46 to 9:32 p. m. and the most remarkable feature of the record was that it showed a vertical movement equal to the horizontal disturbance.

FIVE DIE IN NEW YORK FIRE TRAP

Immigrants Caught in Attic of Old Building with no Chance to Escape

JAMAICA, L. I., Aug. 5.—Five men and two women were burned to death, two mortally injured and a score of others seriously hurt in a fire which destroyed a wooden hotel and employment agency here early today.

Most of the dead were Polish and Russian immigrants who had arrived only yesterday. The wooden fire-trap housed forty men and women, most of them sleeping on cots.

The barking of a dog aroused neighbors and efforts were made to get the sleeping immigrants out of the burning house. Most of them were compelled to jump from the second story windows, the steps having been burned away. Firemen made several daring rescues.

All the dead were asleep in an attic from which there was no escape.

not accept. Senator Gore had told him of Hamon's attempt at bribery, he said.

Roy Thompson, Gore's assistant secretary, testified substantially as did young Gore.

Creager Tells Story
Congressman Creager was the first witness called today and immediately launched into a story as to what he knew of the connection with the McMurray contracts of Jacob Hamon and Congressman Bird McGuire.

"Jake Hamon and Congressman McGuire occupied the same rooms in the Occidental Hotel, at Washington," he said. "I have known Hamon for four or five years, having first made his acquaintance when he became chairman of the republican state committee of Oklahoma. So far as I know, he had no interest in the McMurray contracts."

"He told me that I might get an interest in the contracts but I did not understand his conversation as an offer to corrupt me. Hamon then suggested that I go up and see McMurray, which I did, but McMurray said nothing to me about his contracts."

Creager then continued that he did not tell Gore in detail of the conversation he had with Hamon and intimated that his meeting with McMurray was nothing unusual, as he had known the attorney for years, had always been friendly and McMurray would often visit him in his office and even at his home.

Creager here said that McMurray had never made any offer to let him in on the contracts, or suggested a bribe.

Hamon Only Briber
"I am the author of a bill providing for the disposal of Indian property," he said, "and this bill expresses the wishes of McMurray. In fact it was prepared by him, but during the seven months that McMurray and I discussed the Indian bill he made no improper suggestions to me. No person aside from Hamon made any suggestion that I construed as being improper."

"I am opposed to the McMurray contract being approved by the government and the bill for the disposal of these Indian lands met with the approval of the Oklahoma delegation, although it was suggested in the committee that a new bill be drafted."

"The Oklahoma delegation was organized with Gore as president and myself as secretary."

Could Get "Interest"
"Hamon told me that it could be arranged for me to get an interest in the McMurray contracts," Creager explained further, "but did not say that he (Hamon) had any interest in them. I did not understand that Hamon had authority to represent McMurray."

Creager said a second bill covering the disposal of the Indian lands was finally prepared in a committee meeting of the Oklahoma delegation and a conference was held at which the president, members of the interior department and the Oklahoma delegation were present but no agreement was reached.

Senator Gore then cross examined Creager briefly.

"What has Hamon said to you in reference to your testimony here?" Gore asked.

Hamon Wanted Silence
"Hamon asked me if I would testify," Creager replied, "and I told him I would. I also told him what my testimony would be and he expressed regret that I would be compelled to make a statement."

D. L. Gore, a brother of the senator, was called and established the fact that Senator Gore was the author of the bill regarding the Indian lands which resulted in certain indictments being returned in the state. This referred to the Muskogee "town lot cases" in connection with which Gov. Haskell is indicted.

"Hamon was often in my brother's office," young Gore said. "Orville T. Smith, private counsel for Haskell was also interested in a resolution to inquire into the matter in which the indictments were secured against Haskell."

Hamon Admits Remark
Hamon resumed the stand at the afternoon session of the inquiry. He denied having any transactions with McMurray about May 6, but admitted that he saw D. L. Gore at that time when he said:

"Dick, the senator is mighty hard on his friends."

Young Gore credited Hamon with this statement yesterday.

Hamon denied, however, that he

"DRYS" FILE FOR FALL ELECTIONS

All Political Parties Now Have Tickets in Field One Day Before Time Limit Expires

With but one day left in which to file nomination papers the "political pot" for this section of the state is coming to a "boil." Although there are many candidates for nomination who have already filed there are still many holding out until the last day.

Monday will mark the start of the "festivities" in the political game although Senator Fairchild, democratic candidate for governor, will fire one of the opening guns for the democrats when he speaks here tomorrow night.

With the filing of the prohibition ticket every party in the county will have a ticket in the field. The ticket to be put in the field by the "drys" is as follows:

Sheriff—Garret Westerhouse, Onalaska.

Register of deeds—D. C. Chappel, 415 North Seventh street.

Clerk of court—Harry Schilling, Onalaska.

County surveyor—Fred Mulder, Holland.

County clerk—Edward Redmund, Onalaska.

First district assemblyman—Thos. Shimmis, Jr., 415 North Seventh street, La Crosse.

Second district assemblyman—George Jones, Bangor.

County treasurer—Horace G. Willey, Onalaska.

District Attorney—Bert S. Steadwell, La Crosse.

County coroner—Andrew E. Smith, Onalaska.

Among the papers filed today were those of I. E. Green, stalwart, for assemblyman from the Second district.

had said: "I have a lot of money to make and I don't care how I make it."

Addressing the members of the investigating committee directly, Hamon said:

"I don't want you gentlemen to force me to relate the nature of my business in Washington. Senator Gore's unfair and untruthful statements have forced me to reveal matters concerning clients and I have revealed them with extreme reluctance."

Hamon said he had talked with Gore concerning the indictments against Haskell but declined to tell what was said, on the ground that he represented Haskell. He also declined to tell the names of others interested in the Haskell cases.

Gore to Examine Hamon

The hearing has attracted great crowds to Muskogee and a most every leading politician in the state is on hand.

It is believed Senator Gore will take the stand again either late today or tomorrow and will give testimony concerning the manner and methods employed in securing the passage of Indian bills.

Senator Robert L. Owen has been employed in three important Indian cases and it is asserted his total fees from this source have been more than a million dollars.

Adjournment of the inquiry was taken at noon.

Gore will probably cross examine Hamon during the afternoon session.

Sherman Reiterates

RIG MOOSE, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The following additional statement was made today by Vice-president Sherman regarding Senator Gore's testimony at Muskogee, Okla.

"I never heard my name mentioned in connection with the contracts which were the subject of Senator Gore's testimony yesterday. I never had any interest of any kind in the Indian contracts other than the interest I have had for years had in the welfare of the Indians and which I shall ever have—no personal interest, I mean. The story so far as my name is concerned, is without any foundation whatever. If any person has said I have any personal interest in this case or in any other Indian contracts he has stated what was not true."

Taft Refused to Sanction It

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 5.—Senator Curtis left for Muskogee, Oklahoma, this afternoon where he will appear before the committee investigating the Gore bribery charge.

Before leaving Curtis said:

"I will tell the committee about a conference I had with Vice-president Sherman and President Taft at the president's request, in which both of us advised the president against approving the attorney's fee claimed by McMurray. Acting on that advice the president said he would not approve the claim."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—"The famous McMurray contracts," responsible for Senator Gore's sensational charges of attempted bribery, involved the proposed sale of 450,000 acres of rich mineral lands belonging

UNIVERSALISTS CALL NEW PASTOR

Rev. Mr. Longbrake of Hartford, Wis., will Be

Asked to Fill Local Pulpit

At a business meeting of members of the congregation of St. Paul's Universalist church, held yesterday afternoon at a picnic in Myrick park, letters were read by Mrs. E. L. Spicer from several pastors and it was decided to extend a call to Rev. Mr. Longbrake of Hartford, Wis., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. J. S. Lowe.

Rev. Mr. Longbrake will come here in the near future to preach to the congregation and it is likely that he will decide to accept the call.

to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians.

J. F. McMurray, an attorney of McAlester, Okla., and his associates had made contracts with numerous individual Indians by which the attorneys were to receive ten per cent of the proceeds of the land sales.

Senator Gore opened the McMurray contracts and introduced a measure in the senate providing that all contracts with Indians must be confirmed by congress. It was this measure that caused the trouble.

The possible attorney's fees under the McMurray contracts are variously estimated at from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000. It is understood that there is a standing offer of $30,000,000 for the land while the geological survey has estimated its value at $100,000,000. McMurray's agents, it is charged, hastened to Washington to oppose the "Gore measure."

According to Gore the bribe was offered to him in an effort to induce him to withdraw it.

Expose a Last Resort
The Gore measure was favorably reported and seemed to be well on its way toward passing. During the absence of Gore on June 24, however, it came up in the course of routine business and its enemies had practically killed it when Gore rushed into the chamber.

Realizing that only the most extreme measure could save the bill at that stage of the session, Gore made his sensational speech in which he charged the attempted bribery and that various members of congress were interested in the deal. But at that time he mentioned no names. On the last night of the session just before final adjournment, special committees were appointed to investigate the matter.

Gore had succeeded in having his bill re-amended and adopted in such shape as to be satisfactory to him. Under the previous law it was provided that all blanket contracts with Indian tribes required the approval of the president and President Roosevelt in 1908 refused to O. K. tribal contracts made by McMurray. The McAlester attorney then proceeded to obtain individual contracts which led Gore to introduce his bill.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—No one had an opportunity to ask Col. Roosevelt what he thought about Senator Gore's startling statement in regard to Vice President Sherman today. When the ex-president rushed from his automobile into the Outlook offices he threw a hurried declaration at the little knot of newspaper men in the hall awaiting him: "I have no statement to make about Sherman."

And he disappeared into his sanctum.

Urge Sherman to Testify
UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Friends of Vice President Sherman here today will urge him upon his return from the Adirondacks to take the stand before the congressional investigation committee, looking into the Gore attempted bribery charges.

While the mention of the vice president's name in connection with the matter is looked upon here by his friends and business associates as unpleasant they declare that there is nothing really against him.

Gore Told Hughes
DENVER, Col., Aug. 5.—United States Senator C. J. Hughes, Jr., who moved in the senate the appointment of a committee to investigate Senator Gore's charges of attempted bribery, declared today that he had never before attached any importance to these charges and had never before heard the name of Vice President Sherman mentioned in connection with them. On account of Gore's blindness, Hughes said, he read all the Oklahoma senator's letters in connection with the bill designed to prevent future frauds in Indian lands. He said Gore told him, the persons interested in the McMurray deal offered him $25,000 and later $50,000 if he could stop a favorable report in the senate on the bill designed to prevent land frauds. Hughes said he considered this bill a strong one and that he made a favorable report on it to the senate.

GENE WANTED TO WAKE TONY SURE

Gleason Lets A. F. Reitzel Take an Alarm Clock to Insure Attendance at Derr's Picnic

Someone asked A. F. Reitzel today if he attended Gene Derr's picnic at Myrick park at 6 o'clock this morning.

"Tony" pulled open the air and threw over the lead and his big a-t-o said "poo poo."

The fact is E. H. Derr and wife arranged an early morning breakfast at Myrick park. Their friends, by prearrangement sent their contributions of eatables to the Derr domicile last evening and Gene promised to go to the park and cook the breakfast. All who overslept and were at the park later than 6 o'clock were to be fined 50 cents each.

All arrived between 5:30 and 5:45 excepting Mr. and Mrs. Burt Smith, and just as the pumps on the court house clock were getting ready to grind out 7411 strokes to designate 6 a. m. and when the other breakfasters were congratulating themselves that they would add a dollar to the jack pot the Smith auto whirled up in a cloud of dust.

Gene Gleason is a friend of Mr. Reitzel, and did not care to see him fined for tardiness. Consequently, when the latter went home last evening Gleason volunteered to loan him an alarm clock to insure an early start. Gleason set and wound it, and Reitzel placed it on the bureau. It rung and hastily grabbing up his clothes, at the same time looking at his clock Mr. Reitzel discovered it had "exploded" at 12:45 a. m., so the former merchant went back to bed. Fifteen minutes later it rung again, and thereafter at fifteen minute intervals the clock continued to remind Mr. Reitzel of his pending engagement until 5 when he responded after a sleepless night to the everlasting call.

Mr. Derr had kept his appointment and with greasy sleeves and singed eye lashes invited his guests to a fine breakfast at the park at 6 o'clock sharp. Bridge was indulged in after the meal was out of the way.

Those invited were Messrs. and Mesdames Eugene Gleason, A. F. Reitzel, E. H. Derr, Julius Westby, Lawrence Nelson, Homer Hart and Burt Smith, Mrs. May Grimes, Miss White, Lilah and Leslie Derr and Mrs. Helen Hall of Texas, who is a guest at the Derr home.

Tomorrow the big sale on ladies' and children's ready to wear clothes begins at the J. Bartel Co. store.

ESCH ADDRESSES MINNESOTA BAR

Local Congressman Principal Speaker at the St. Paul Banquet Today

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 5.—(Special.)—Congressman John J. Esch, La Crosse, Wis., at a banquet given here at noon, delivered the annual address for the Minnesota State Bar Association, his subject being "Federal Control of Stock and Bond Issues of Inter-State Carriers."

Mr. Esch traced the history of the bill explaining that when it left the lower house it contained strong provisions against the over issue of stocks and bonds of inter-state carriers, together with their regulation through the Inter-State Commerce Commission in cases of re-organization, combination or merger. The senate, he said, refused to adopt these provisions and by way of compromise a commission was provided to investigate the whole subject matter and report to congress with its recommendations. The commission, he stated, was soon to be appointed and its hearings will afford opportunity for all those who have knowledge of the subject and are interested therein to be heard.

"Although many of the states," said Congressman Esch, "notably Massachusetts, New York, Texas and Wisconsin, have stringent laws controlling the stock and bond issues of public utilities, including railroads inter-state in character, it remained for the session of Congress just concluded to take the first steps to consider and report upon like provisions as to common carriers engaged in inter-state commerce. This was in partial response to the special message of President Taft dated January 7."

TWO FORMER BILLS COMBINED IN ONE

Industrial Insurance Committee of State Legislature Consolidates Measures

OPTIONAL PLAN IS FAVORED

New Bill will Be Printed and Copies Sent to Manufacturers and Others in State

The two former bills drawn up by the industrial insurance committee of the Wisconsin legislature have been combined so that the part abrogating the assumption of risk and negligence of a fellow servant and the part which provides for a scale of compensation appear in one bill. Provision is made in the same bill whereby employers may elect to pay compensation as specified in succeeding sections; and when they do so they are not liable to suits for damages at the instigation of employees. The compensatory features of the bill are, therefore, optional to employers.

Employees are required upon entering into employment to decide whether or not they will accept compensation in case of injury, or whether they will sue for damages. If they go to work or continue to work for an employer who has elected to pay compensation, they are compelled to accept the compensation as provided in the proposed act, unless they have contracted in writing to the contrary. The bill is, therefore, optional to all employees, but the employee is given the right to choose between accepting compensation as provided in the act and suing for damages in case of injury.

Favors Optional Plan. The legislative committee is inclined to adopt the optional plan between employer and employee for the following reasons: It will thereby avoid the constitutional question as to whether or not the compensation act can be made compulsory so far as the employer is concerned; it is also able to create an arbitration board which will quickly and cheaply settle all disputes without expense, thereby obviating undue litigation, cost and time necessary under the present system.

In adopting the optional plan it is easy to provide that an employer shall file a statement in which he agrees to accept all the provisions of the act. It is more difficult when it comes to the employer. In the stress of business it would be entirely impossible to make a written contract with each new employee. Consequently the employee, according to the provisions of the act, waives his right to recover anything but compensation as a part of his agreement of hire, unless he contracts in writing to the contrary. The bill thereby settles all disputes which may arise as to whether or not the employee has accepted the provisions of the act; and at the same time it leaves him free to contract as he chooses.

The compensatory features of the bill are compulsory insofar as the state, each county, city, village and school district are concerned. It is believed that there is no doubt as to the power of the legislature to make this provision.

Free Medical Treatment. The bill provides that in case of disability free medical treatment and an indemnity equal to 65 per cent of the wages is to be paid. The indemnity is payable as wages and at the same intervals. In case of death three years' wages shall be paid, but not less than $1,000 nor more than $3,000. A scale of special benefits is also provided for the loss of a hand, foot or an eye.

All questions of dispute are to be settled by a state board of arbitration, which is to be known as the industrial accident board, to have offices in the capital, and authorized to employ special examiners who may hold hearings and take testimony when necessary.

The employers are left to insure the risks for compensation in their establishments as may seem most economical to them. Doubtless existing casualty companies will carry a large part of the risk, but in many instances mutual insurance companies will be organized to conduct this business in special industries. Mutual air or benefit societies may also be organized in separate plants and establishments. All of these insurance companies and mutual aid societies will be under the direct supervision of the state insurance department.

Copies of the revised bill will be printed and sent for criticism to manufacturers, labor leaders, attorneys and students interested in this problem. Efforts will then be made to have the report of the committee prepared early in the fall.

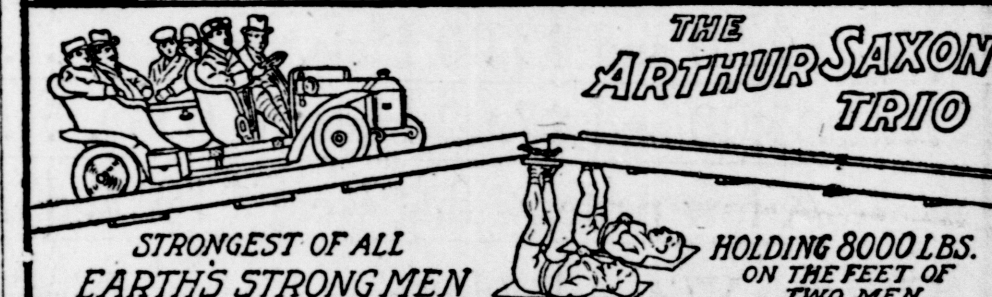

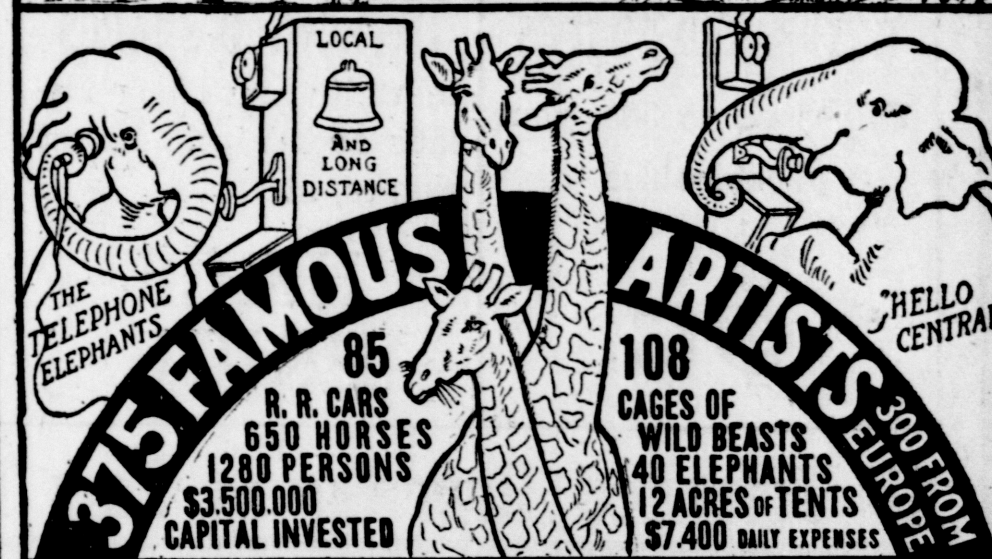

SAYS INSURGENCY SWEEPS COUNTRY

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 5.—Senator Cummins today received a telegram from Senator J. P. Bristow, of Kansas, telling him of the result in that state. Senator Cummins said:

"You can use as exuberant terms as you wish in expressing my gratification over the outcome in Kansas. I congratulated Senator Bristow. The result in Kansas is about as I had expected it to be, and I feel very happy over the outcome. The movement is sweeping over the country and is exceptionally strong in the middle west. But the east is gradually thinking our way."

DEMOCRATIC HOPE IS AGAIN REVIVED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 5.—Democratic hopes for John Lind as candidate for governor were raised again by Chairman Frank A. Day upon his return from Fairmont. The head of the democratic organization had given up hope Saturday but he announced today the receipt of a mysterious communication which to his mind puts a different face on the situation.

"I have positive information," he said, "that John Lind never stated to anyone that he would not qualify if elected. He has been notoriously and infamously misquoted in the public press." Further Mr. Day would not discuss the subject. He would not disclose the source of his information, or say whether or not his word is from John Lind himself.

ALL CANDIDATES MEET WOODMEN

BARNEVELD, Wis., Aug. 5.—The third annual Woodman reunion and field day was held at Barneveld today. The celebration is unique from the fact that all the political candidates of every party were invited to be present and to meet with the Woodmen. This has been a popular feature of their program for two years and many candidates were in attendance.

The regular speaker of the day was Secretary of State James A. Frear. His address was partially devoted to Wisconsin and a statement of Wisconsin finances. He called attention to a tendency to pervert the facts on the subject and to engage in sensationalism. In a clean cut statement, devoid of political coloring, Secretary Frear economically administered in recent years than Wisconsin, and that the reform laws affecting the taxation of public service corporations had enabled the state to remit millions of dollars to tax payers and at the same time carry on all the administrative business of the state without the imposition of any tax for that purpose.

African Timber. It is estimated that the Gold coast and Ashanti could supply over 60,000 logs of mahogany and cedar a year if the internal communication were better. With mechanical haulage such as traction engines and light tramways, the output could be increased to a quarter of a million logs a year without depleting the natural reserves.

COMPETITION IS TO CLOSE TODAY

La Crosse Rifleman Are Expected to Get Places on the State Team This Year

(By Allen C. Werner.)
CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., Aug. 5.—The competition for places on the state rifle team will close today when the twelve highest men will be figured out and constitute the team to shoot at Camp Perry. While only one La Crosse man, Berger of B company, appears on either team, this does not mean that the rest are not doing good work. The scores given below represent one day's firing only and when the grand totals are made up La Crosse men will be there with honors.

A high wind blew across the range yesterday, bringing smoke from the brush fires and concealing the targets. Shooting was stopped because the targets were hidden by the dense smoke. The shooting yesterday was 200, 600 and 1,000 yards slow fire, 200 yards rapid fire and one skirmish run.

High scores on the range for Thursday's firing follow:

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down StairsTIZ Cured Her Quick.

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk down stairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luthers Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

SPAIN TO PREVENT CATHOLIC OUTBURST

MADRID, Aug. 5.—A large body of trained veterans was this afternoon ordered mobilized in strategic points protecting San Sebastian with orders to prevent Sunday's threatened demonstration of the Catholics at all hazards.

This action of the part of the government followed a report that priests are serving out arms and ammunition to the Catholics of the Biscayan province, who are to take part in Sunday's demonstrations before the palace of the king.

The government authorities are gravely alarmed over the situation and the troops have been ordered to see that the demonstrators do not enter San Sebastian either by railroad or on foot.

GOWNS FOR GARDEN PARTIES

By HELEN FALCO

FEW WOMEN UNDERSTAND IMPORTANCE OF PARASOL

Must be Chosen with Careful and Artistic Eye—Lingerie Robes and Toilettes for Summer Functions and the Seashore

NOW that the soft spring showers are over and the twittering of birds in the branches has changed to a soft cooing, we have no further need of assurance that summer is at hand. The weather even now is, on fine days, quite warm enough to insure the success of a garden party, and even though the air be a trifle chill, there are those bewitching little shoulder wraps that are such an addition to an afternoon toilette. Of no small consideration are the accessories for the frocks of this season.

Parasols are perhaps by far the most important, and how few women realize the magnitude of their subtle power. Many a woman has floundered hopelessly in her social career merely through the choice of her parasol. The prevailing idea of the proper selection of a parasol is that it must be the exact tone of the gown. This is quite erroneous and absurd if one stops to think of it, for parasols, like color stage lights, greatly alter the expression of the face as a reflected light it throws upon it for better or for worse; and in addition all the shadows are reversed; as in stage lights, they are thrown up instead of down, and while one may not care to use makeup to counteract this effect, much can be attained by the exercise of a little care in selecting the proper tone.

Harmony, Not Identity.

One should not attempt to match a gown, but to choose some pastel shade that will harmonize well with it. Can one imagine a more disastrous calamity than a green complexion, even though it be very pale? Such, however, would be the result were a green sunshade chosen, no matter how pale. The sunlight through such a parasol reflects an orange green light that not only ruins the complexion, but utterly destroys the most perfect harmony of the gown itself. Old rose is equally as bad as it makes the face look red and the cheeks hollow with deep shadows under the eyes.

Rather choose pale rose, soft yellow, delicate blue, or lavender if one's color is pink enough to warrant lavender. Pearl grey, all shades of brown and most shades of blue and white or cream are excellent. Any of them gives a bright, sunlit girlishness to the complexion. One must always remember that the shadows are thrown above the eyes, the nose, mouth and chin, thus foreshortening the features.

One may easily add a connecting link between gown and parasol by tying a smart bow of the color of the gown to the handle or choosing a stick the color of the gown. The smartest thing, however, is to have the bow exactly matching the color of the eyes or else the stick matching the eyes. If not it should at least complement the face as it comes in such close contact with it.

Chiffon and tulle facing on the hat are also a great help or hindrance to the complexion; when it is possible they should match the eyes or else be a neutral tone that complements the complexion.

Even an ugly face if it is well lighted becomes beautiful. After all, beauty is more a matter of light and shadow shapes, as is proven by the face of a supposedly beautiful woman if she is tired or worn. One will say "How she has faded," when it is merely a matter of flabby muscles that are causing different shadow shapes and broken planes of light. Give her plenty of fresh air and sleep till the tired nerves and muscles are toned up to their usual vigor and note the change.

The Important Scarf.

Scarves form an important factor to the summer gowns, and the woman who does not avail herself of these alluring weapons deserves all the defeat she will have meted out to her under the very nose of her erstwhile unattractive rival. Chiffon scarves not only veil a multitude of sins but are most vital weapons in woman's conquest. Picture to yourself floating filmy draperies disappearing down a moonlit path. There is something mysterious and fascinating lingering about the very space they have floated through, and one may not have seen even the outline of the wearer. But all this I believe is apropos of other matters than clothes, which we will return to in minute detail.

One of the handiest models seen this season was a lingerie robe of eyelet embroidered batiste of a peculiar cool blue color, the intensified color of pale blue submerged in water. This comes in matched sets or in whole robes ready to sew together.

The skirt was especially good; the upper portion was slightly puffed into a wide straight band of embroidery, extending down over the ruffles a trifle lower at the sides and back than in the front. It fitted quite smoothly about the waist, the fullness being taken up in half inch tucks. Below the band of embroidery were two wide flounces; the gathers arranged in quarter inch tucks about 3 1/2 inches in length. They were correspondingly graduated to allow the band to slip well down over the sleeve-like little caps.

The yoke was shaped to fit underneath the shoulder pieces and over a little dickey of fine transparent linen in tiny pin tucks running around the stock. Laid over this was a narrow band of blue velvet ribbon of a deeper shade than the dress. This last touch was excellent, as it gave to the ensemble a note of finality.

Fitted in beneath the embroidery was a tucked piece of the white linen, which also formed the little tight-fitting sleeves, laid in tucks running around the arms and to the line of the puffing. The girdle and choux were of pale rose Redola satin. A line suggestive of the Empire frocks resulted from the arrangement of the embroidery on the bodice. A strip of embroidery gathered in front and less full in back was shaped at the lower edge to conform with the line of the puffing. Above this at either side extending over the shoulder where it again joined the band was a wide band of the embroidery, the under-arm portion being cut loose so as to allow the shoulder to come down in a bell-like sleeve finished with a wide cuff of the embroidery, from beneath which showed a little puff of the tucked linen, the puffs being released to form the frill.

For Summer Resorts.

Another model that would be excellent for afternoon wear at mountain and seashore resorts, as well as for early summer and fall garden parties, was of pale color colored India silk of a dull soft lustre.

The skirt was arranged in a se-

NOVELTIES IN DRESS GOODS FOR THE WARM WEATHER

Hopsackings and Covert Cloth can Now be Obtained in Very Light Weights—Useful Hints for the Housekeeper

which also forms the wide round collar and inserted band on the skirt. The skirt just touches the ground evenly all round. The neck is filled in with a little shirred yoke of lighter green tulle, the same shade as the little leaves, and finished by a narrow band of black velvet ribbon, which counteracts the effect of the green next the flesh and destroys the reflection under the chin.

The new figured pongee is shown in most delectable models for dressy afternoon frocks. The one at the right is a very pretty polka-dot pattern with an interesting sash, such as our mothers wore in their girlhoods. The skirt is cut with a gored top reaching half way to the knees, where the full Spanish flounce is attached. A broad plain sash of plain moire ribbon matching the background is drawn rather tightly about the hips and tied with a loose knot with one upstanding loop, the two ends reaching to the knees. Somewhat novel is the plastron, which is in one with the moire girdle, this being cut on the bias so as to fit into the figure nicely and afford a few soft wrinkles in front. It is trimmed with a narrow fold of liberty satin, the shade of the polka dot. The rest of the bodice is quite simple of construction, tucked wrought by the treatment of the neck, a navy collar in dull soft linen being used to show how adaptable it is. For dressy occasions, however, more elaborate and daintier collars should be used and without scarf, merely following the line of the neck. The gown is of undyed tussore, the skirt has a short fitted tunic, lower in the back than in the front and trimmed with a band of liberty ribbon of a lichen brown shade. Beneath the tunic the skirt is arranged to many small box pleats and finished with a band of liberty ribbon. The sleeves are cut in one with the bodice and finished with a deep cuff of the material laid in small tucks and edged with ribbon. The plastron is made in two sections, the square upper one overlapping the lower pointed one and each outlined with the lichen colored ribbon, which also finishes the neck. The color is of the goods edged with the velvet and a loosely knotted scarf of old blue crepe is worn with it.

Textures and Weaves.

The hopsackings will be used not only for early spring, but all through the summer for, instead of harsh, heavy, closely woven wool, we are presented with an exceedingly soft, loosely woven, light weight material. They are unsurpassed for seashore or mountain resorts, as the loose weave readily admits the air, while the wool gives just enough warmth to obviate the use of cumbersome wraps.

Polo Cloth.

A new version of it, that has been seen a little through the winter in exclusive circles, is known as polo cloth, deriving its name from the loose cloaks worn at this game over one's riding clothes. It is used in town for opera coats, more or less elaborated. It is very rich and thick in texture, though somewhat heavy for spring wear. But it is very soft and light to the touch. It will be largely employed for separate coats and capes.

Covert cloth, in a new light weight, hitherto unknown for whole suits, is to be obtained in lovely soft colorings. It has a fine, diagonal twill, made of two tones of twisted yarn. This year's fabric shows one thread of white twisted with a color, thus giving the silvery cast characteristic of coverts.

Among new serge weaves is one known as shark skin. It has a diagonal weave with a crepe-like surface. Others are: Camel's hair serge, surah serge and imperial serge, ranging through various spring shades to white.

A New Material.

Nelgause is a decidedly new material, quite in contrast with those above mentioned. It has a fine line of wool, with here and there a little rib of white silk which gives it a fluffy, snowflake appearance. The colors are very soft, almost pastel. Broadcloths, though not in general use, are much in demand for evening wraps and some exquisite new shades are being produced.

SYSTEM TO MAKE IRONING EASIER

Don't Put Linen Through the Wringer—How to Make a Cheap, Movable Closet

IRONING day may be made less tiresome by a little forethought on the part of the housewife. Never put linen pieces through the wringer if you would avoid the little wrinkles that are so hard to press out. Small tucks will iron smoother and look better if ironed on the wrong side. If knit wear, bath towels, etc., when taken from the lines are smoothed with the hands and placed on the bars to air, they will be ready to put away by the time the bars are needed for the ironed clothes.

To avoid the unsightly fold so often seen on the top of a sleeve of starched shirt-waists, fold at the seam, from the upper, then the lower side, not letting the iron pass within an inch or two of the edge; open the sleeve, fold with the unironed part in the center of the sleeve and press carefully.

A Portable Closet.

If one has not much closet room, or wishes a place to keep clothes for a time out of the dust, an excellent portable closet can be made in the following manner: Take a two-fold clothes rack and put in a corner of the room. Fasten a brass rod across the top in front, from one of the uprights to the other; this is to put the curtain on. Cut out a piece of stiff pasteboard in triangular shape to fit the top and cover with white oil cloth, binding it around the edges. This can be laid upon the top to keep the dust out and is ready to be moved at any time. Put screw hooks along the rods in the inside to hang the clothes upon. Enamel all in white. Silkline or any material can be used for the curtain, and can be suspended by rings to the rod, or a deep casing can be run in the curtain and iron run through this. This is an excellent way to protect clothes when away on a vacation if there is no closet available.

For Practical Use.

For the practical minded girl who makes one frock do for several occasions, the fourth illustration is shown. Quite a complete change is leaves with brown stems. The three-piece skirt is cut with a front panel extending up into the waist in princess fashion, closing invisibly on the right side. The back of the waist is slightly bloused at the belt which is pointed in the back and made of folds of taffeta ribbon of a dried rose shade like the scarf that is knotted under the collar. The sleeves are quite plain but loose at the top being cut slightly circular at the bottom to which is attached a deep turnover cuff of handsome heavy ecru lace.

The hat was of soft green straw, trimmed with an ostrich frill and thin plume of deep coral shade.

Quiet and Simple.

Of quiet simplicity is the gown of figured foulard shown in the first illustration. The background is linden green with little moss green

the shaped yoke of Valenciennes finished with narrow Val edging. A jumper sleeve is simulated by a tucked band of silk inlaid in a piece of velvet, the outer edge finished with lace edging. The little bell shaped sleeves are made in a simple gathered sleeve, fuller at the elbow than at the shoulder, and held in at the middle by a band of the lace which is shorter around the top than around the bottom. A narrow, close fitting band of tucking edged with narrow lace and black velvet ribbon like that on the ries of four puffs and a wide flounce at the bottom. Each puffing was finished at the lower edge by a narrow ruffle of the silk, headed by a narrow band of black velvet ribbon. The upper puff was a trifle shorter than the next, which was again a trifle shorter than the two lower ones. The two top ones dipped a trifle in the front. A proportionately shorter puff formed the lower part of the bodice, joined to a wide band of Valenciennes lace, above which was a narrow puffing of the silk which joined the lower edge of

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The stock market showed a strong tone at the opening, prices especially of the active railroad issues showing substantial fractional gains, many of them ranging at the highest figures so far this week.

11 a. m.—The strong tone was lashed in the market in the first hour, prices of nearly all the active issues moving one to two points above yesterday's close.

Government bonds unchanged; others firm.

Noon—Further gains were established in the market in the first half of the forenoon, but around midday some profit taking sales caused fractional recessions from the highest range in the first two hours.

2 p. m.—Selling orders appeared during the afternoon and their executions caused some slight recessions but the tone continued fairly strong.

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—There are indications that the wheat trade may be a narrow affair for a time, as the influences in the market are decidedly conflicting. There is a large and active bull element in the local trade, which is greatly encouraged in its position by the strength at Liverpool, some improvement in the milling demand, hope of bull news from North Dakota when threshing begins in that state and the belief that the country will offer wheat less freely from the winter states in the near future.

Northwest markets sold wheat this morning September wheat here covered a range here from 102 1/4 to 101 3/4 and held around 102. December sold off from 104 7/8 to 104 3/8 and had 14 cent rally. There was an early dip of 12 cent in the May price and only a fractional rally.

Corn traders had a quiet market early today and conservative leaders in the trade have about arrived at the conclusion that the country is not going to take the buying side of these futures while the crop promises are as good as present reports indicate. This morning the September price held between 62 7/8 and 62 1/2 cents, December between 60 3/8 and 60 1/8; May 62 1/4 and 61 7/8.

Oats acted heavy after a firmer start. September oats opened at 37 cents, sold to 37 to 37 1/8 cents, off to 36 3/4 to 36 7/8. December opened at 38 to 38 3/8 and sold to 38 1/8 cents.

Provisions were fractionally lower at the outset. There was some selling of a miscellaneous character, presumably smaller holders getting out of their lines.

Close.—The grain bulls scored a decided victory in the afternoon session and wheat advanced sharply on stories of heavy crop damage in France from rains. All wheat options higher. September, December and May 1/2 each. September corn 1/2, December oats 3/4, December 3/8, May 1/4 higher. Provisions generally steady.
